

SCOTTISH
ASSOCIATION
FOR THE STUDY
OF AMERICA

Ellen Craft Essay Prize

The Scottish Association for the Study of America

The Ellen Craft Essay Prize is awarded for an outstanding piece of work in gender, minority or women's studies relating to the Americas.

The Scottish Association for the Study of America (SASA) is thrilled to announce this year's Ellen Craft Essay Prize is now open for submissions. The Ellen Craft Essay Prize is intended to help to promote, encourage and share the study of women, gender, and minority topics in American Studies at postgraduate and early career levels. It hopes, in a small way, to answer some of the current issues facing American Studies scholarship within the UK both in subject matter and participants.

The Ellen Craft Essay Prize is awarded to the best essay by a postgraduate student or early-career researcher on a topic relating to women, gender, or minority studies within the Americas. SASA recognises a broad definition of the Americas and includes anything situated within North, South or Latin America, at any point in history. The work should be 3000-4000 words in length, including footnotes (excluding a bibliography). The work may be part of an ongoing research project or an original piece, but it must not have been submitted to other essay prize competitions. Past entrants are welcome to submit again. Previous first-place winners are not eligible to be selected for a second year. A selection of the SASA committee and external reviewers will judge all submissions. SASA will award the winning author a prize of £100 and an invitation to our annual conference in March 2025.

The namesake of this prize, Ellen Craft, was an activist and freedom fighter who fled enslavement in 1848. Dressed as a white, male enslaver, Ellen, along with her husband dressed as an enslaved person, escaped across 1000 miles of slave states to freedom. Following their escape, the couple travelled to the UK where they gave a series of lectures on their lives as enslaved people and their journey. The creators of this award found Ellen Craft a fitting namesake. Her often forgotten story is emblematic of the type of scholarship this award hopes to promote.

ELIGIBILITY AND SUBMISSION

This essay prize competition is open to current postgraduate students based at UK universities and academic institutions and early career researchers residing in the UK who are within the first five years since finishing their doctorate. Submissions should be sent by email to the SASA committee: sasaessayprize@gmail.com. Please also submit either a brief academic CV or a brief bio demonstrating your eligibility for the prize and including your full contact details. Deadline for submission will be Friday, 13 December 2024 and entrants will be informed in February 2025.

SCOTTISH
ASSOCIATION
FOR THE STUDY
OF AMERICA

Ellen Craft Essay Prize Style Guide

The Scottish Association for the Study of America

The Ellen Craft Essay Prize for an outstanding piece of work in gender, minority or women's studies relating to the Americas.

STYLISTIC

- Size 12, Black ink, in a readable font.
- 1.5 or double-spaced
- 3,000-4,000 words – this includes footnotes but does not include your bibliography.
- Do not include your name on the essay.
- Ensure that all of your pages are numbered.
- Entries must include citations and a bibliography. Any style is acceptable, as long as your referencing system is consistent.

ELIGIBILITY

- This essay prize competition is open to current postgraduate students (Masters and PhD) based at a UK university or academic institution and early career researchers who reside in the UK.
- Submissions must be in English.
- Previous winners of this particular prize are not eligible to submit again. Honourable mentions may resubmit a revised or different piece of work.

SUBMISSION

- Please submit your piece to sasaessayprize@gmail.com by Friday, 13 December 2024 as a PDF file.
- As a separate PDF please also attach either a brief academic CV or a brief bio that includes full contact details.